Inspirational partnerships supporting learning opportunities

Lisa Brock's energy, drive and passion and her ability to inspire others with her commitment to better outcomes for young people, have made a life-changing contribution to opportunities for the students she supports.

In her role as Industry Officer, Lisa designed and implemented a highly successful strategy to attract unemployed youths back to school to complete their senior school certificate and move on into apprenticeships.

Lisa's professionalism and exceptional work ethic have enabled her to win over multinational companies and to liaise successfully with a myriad of government agencies and training organisations. Her dedication and enthusiasm are infectious and her communication skills and willingness to listen are outstanding attributes that are appreciated by all. Lisa's ability to connect with disengaged students and build their trust has been a significant factor in what has been achieved.

Lisa has continually refined the program so that it remains relevant, especially for the Indigenous participants, and companies remain interested in hiring school leavers. She has also initiated more effective approaches to marketing.

Through her unflagging efforts, Lisa has created rewarding employment outcomes for participants and made a significant contribution to the community.
