Is Australian teacher registration considered during a skills assessment?

From 21 July 2023, Australian teacher registration may be considered as part of the assessment process. To ensure that your registration is considered, if you hold full or provisional Australian teacher registration, you need to include the registration number in your application. You must also upload official documentation that indicates the status of the registration and any conditions when prompted to do so in the system.

Is Australian teacher registration required for a skills assessment?

No. You may submit an application without Australian teacher registration.

Is Australian teacher registration all I need to demonstrate suitability in a skills assessment?

No. Applicants must submit the required evidence against the assessment criteria, including the identity requirements.

Can I still submit an application if I have Australian teacher registration but do not meet AITSL's criteria?

Yes. Applicants who hold Australian teacher registration should consider submitting an application. Applicants can review the flow chart on the next page to determine if AITSL may consider your registration (and potentially employment) favourably as part of your application.

Can I be certain that AITSL will favourably consider my Australian teacher registration?

It is the applicant's responsibility to determine whether they have the appropriate evidence for their nominated occupation. The flow chart shows how AITSL considers Australian teacher registration (and sometimes employment) in a skills assessment.

AITSL does not currently provide a pre-assessment service and cannot provide you with advice via email as to how your specific situation will be assessed.

What employment would AITSL consider in conjunction with the Australian teacher registration?

AITSL will consider employment as a teacher in the nominated occupation in Australia.

Are employment statements required for a skills assessment?

No. You may submit an application without employment statements. You only need to submit an employment statement when prompted to do so.
