Certification of Highly Accomplished and Lead Teachers in Australia

April 2012
The Australian Institute for Teaching and School Leadership (AITSL) has been working closely with key education stakeholders to develop the Certification of Highly Accomplished and Lead Teachers in Australia. The paper outlines the purposes and principles underlying certification and the assessment process.

In developing the nationally consistent approach to certification, AITSL consulted with all state and territory education authorities, national and local Catholic and Independent school authorities, teacher regulatory authorities, peak national bodies, including unions and principal associations, and practising teachers and principals.

The Institute’s responsibility to lead this work is outlined in its Letter of Expectation from the Commonwealth Minister for Education.

This document was endorsed by Education Ministers at the Standing Council on School Education and Early Childhood (SCSEEC) on 20 April 2012.

Preamble

The National Partnership on Improving Teacher Quality commits all governments to national consistency in certification of Highly Accomplished and Lead teachers. The Australian Professional Standards for Teachers describe what teachers should know and be able to do at these career stages.

Certification of Highly Accomplished and Lead teachers is an important element in a broader teacher quality strategy that develops, recognises and supports excellent practitioners. Formal recognition of exemplary teachers can make an important contribution to the quality teaching and leadership in schools. Certification will benefit all those involved in the process, including teachers, school leaders and education systems. The recognition and certification of excellence aims to encourage teachers to engage in a process aimed at developing ongoing, collaborative learning professionals who strive to reflect upon and improve their practice.

Those who apply for certification will closely examine their own practice and receive comprehensive feedback against professional teacher standards. Teachers committed to improving their practice are vital to student success. As well, they contribute to the advancement of their schools through modelling and leading others to improve practice. Certification at the higher career stages enhances the professionalism of teachers, enabling them to gain recognition for the quality of their teaching and progress their careers while remaining in the classroom.

Much research has concluded that participation in standards-based certification processes accompanied by the appropriate feedback can improve teacher practice. ‘A reliable and valid system of performance assessment based on common standards would provide consistency in gauging teacher effectiveness... and anchor a continuum of performance throughout a teaching career.’

Certification of Highly Accomplished and Lead Teachers in Australia is designed to ensure that the processes for certification of teachers at the Highly Accomplished and Lead career stages are rigorous and authentic.

This paper is not intended to address issues around industrial relations or existing awards. The way in which certified teachers may be recognised or rewarded is an employment matter.

Purposes and principles

Purposes
Certification of Highly Accomplished and Lead teachers has three primary purposes:

> to recognise and promote quality teaching > to provide an opportunity for teachers to reflect on their practice > to provide a reliable indication of quality teaching that can be used to identify, recognise and/or reward Highly Accomplished and Lead teachers.

By contributing to teacher quality, a nationally consistent approach to certification of Highly Accomplished and Lead teachers will help to achieve the national goals for schooling expressed in the Melbourne Declaration on Educational Goals for Young Australians.³

Principles
The proposed approach to the certification of Highly Accomplished and Lead teachers is informed by the following principles:

Standards-based: Certification is awarded against the Australian Professional Standards for Teachers. It represents an assessment against the Standards, independent of any use it might then be put to by teachers, their employers, or others. It is not proposed to limit the number of teachers who can be certified as Highly Accomplished and Lead teachers, provided they meet the Standards.

Student-improvement focused: Certification recognises those teachers who are highly effective in improving student outcomes. Evidence of student outcomes is central to the certification process. Student outcomes are broadly defined and include student learning, engagement in learning and wellbeing.

Development driven: Certification is part of a wider career development approach that includes professional learning, performance assessment and development. Participation in the certification process should be a positive experience for participants and provide useful feedback that further enhances development and learning, including for those teachers who do not achieve certification.

Credible: Certification is credible when assessments of teacher performance are based on rigorous, valid, reliable, fair and transparent measures and processes. The evaluation of teacher practice will be based on consistent application and moderation of these processes by trained assessors, and multiple methods and sources of evidence. Consistency of judgements will be maintained across the diverse contexts where teachers work, so that context does not disadvantage any applicant.

Evidence-based: Certification must be built on nationally and internationally recognised best practice and contribute to the development of evidence about what works in promoting and recognising teacher quality. The operation of the certification process will be evaluated and the results used to further improve it.

A nationally consistent approach

A nationally consistent approach to certification must maintain consistency of standards and judgements across the nation, while being able to be implemented at scale in the diverse contexts in which Australian teachers work. There will be a nationally consistent approach to certification, where a common process is applied by the appropriate bodies in each jurisdiction.

In each jurisdiction, there will be one or more bodies managing the certification process referred to as the certifying authority. Arrangements will be negotiated in each jurisdiction.

To ensure national consistency, rigour and quality of certification, certifying authorities will agree to certify teachers against the Australian Professional Standards for Teachers, using a common national process and quality assurance measures. These bodies will participate in, and in turn conduct training to implement nationally consistent processes; undertake monitoring and moderation; provide summary data on certification decisions; and participate in evaluation, review and improvement of the certification process. More detail on these activities is provided in the section Quality assurance.

Certification will be portable, allowing teachers to maintain their status as a Highly Accomplished or Lead teacher if they move between jurisdictions and sectors. This does not mean that any industrial arrangements attached to certification, such as a particular rate of pay, are automatically transferable. The way in which certified teachers are recognised or rewarded is an employment matter.

Certification against the Australian Professional Standards for Teachers

The four career stages in the Standards provide benchmarks to recognise the professional growth of teachers throughout their careers. The descriptors across the four career stages represent increasing levels of professional knowledge, practice and engagement for teachers. Progression through the stages describes a growing understanding, applied with increasing sophistication across a broader and more complex range of situations.

Teachers do not have to be certified as Highly Accomplished before applying for Lead teacher status in recognition that many teachers may be practising as Highly Accomplished without necessarily applying for certification.

The Standards at the Highly Accomplished and Lead career stages are the basis for certification, and are presented in the Appendix.
Certification processes

The certification process has three main elements – a pre-assessment phase and two stages of assessment. There are some differences in the process for the Highly Accomplished and Lead career stages. These are highlighted in the description of the process that follows.
Personnel involved in the certification process

Teachers volunteer to apply for certification. In addition to the applicant, personnel involved in the certification process are referees (including colleagues and peers), principal/supervisor and assessors.4

Two trained assessors external to the school/setting of the applicant are nominated by the certifying authority to assess the certification application following the common national process.

Referees nominated by the applicant are required to provide verification and evaluative statements against specific focus areas of the Standards about which they have direct knowledge of the applicant’s practice.

The principal/supervisor or their delegate is required to undertake the following responsibilities:

> pre-assessment – short professional discussion with the applicant based on the Standards regarding their readiness for applying for certification > assessment stage 1 – provide a report on an observation of teacher practice and as a referee provide evaluative statements against specific focus areas of the Standards of which they have direct knowledge of the applicant’s practice > assessment stage 2 – short professional discussion with the external assessor during the site visit to provide evaluative statements against the specific focus areas of the Standards demonstrated in observations of practice.

These responsibilities can predominantly be undertaken as part of the school’s regular performance and development process.

The principal/supervisor may delegate these responsibilities to a Deputy/Assistant Principal or equivalent member of the senior leadership team of the school/setting who has significant knowledge of the applicant’s practice.

Pre-assessment

Prior to commencing a certification application teachers determine their eligibility and readiness to apply for certification.

Eligibility requirements

To be eligible to apply for certification at the Highly Accomplished or Lead teacher career stages the applicant must:

> be an Australian citizen or have a permanent residency visa5 > have full registration with an Australian state or territory regulatory authority6 > have been assessed as satisfactory in their two most recent annual performance assessments7 for those applying for Highly Accomplished career stage > have been assessed as satisfactory in their three most recent annual performance assessments for those applying for Lead career stage

Teachers do not have to be certified as a Highly Accomplished teacher before applying for Lead teacher status.

Self-assessment

It is recommended that self-assessment be undertaken prior to commencing a certification application. All candidates will have access to an online tool to self-assess their readiness to apply for certification and to provide them with an understanding of what is required for certification.

All applicants must conduct a professional discussion with their principal/supervisor or delegate regarding their readiness to apply for certification and/or what additional preparation they need to proceed with their application. Obtaining the endorsement of the principal/supervisor to proceed is not mandatory but is strongly recommended.

4 Principal in this document includes the equivalent position to Principal in early childhood and other settings. There will be situations where a principal or equivalent is not available to fulfil the role outlined for the principal in this document, for example in the case where an applicant is a teaching principal. In this situation, the applicant should seek support from a senior person who is in a position to comment authoritatively on the applicant’s teaching.

5 This also includes New Zealand citizens teaching in Australian schools or early childhood settings.

6 In accordance with the regulatory regimes in individual jurisdictions. In New South Wales full registration is Accreditation at Professional Competence. Some teachers in NSW are not required to be accredited, and these teachers are not excluded from this certification process if they meet the other eligibility requirements.

7 Annual performance assessments may be those conducted using the current school/system processes where these exist and are not required in a specific format. It is recognised that currently some schools may not have these processes, or the circumstances of teachers mean they have not received an assessment. In these cases, the referees will provide evidence of past performance. Following the implementation of the Australian Teacher Performance and Development Framework the specific requirements of an annual performance assessment outlined will need to be met.
Certification assessment
The assessment of certification applications has two stages. Applicants must be successful at stage 1 before proceeding to stage 2.

Stage 1 – assessment of evidence submitted against the Standards, which includes annotated evidence of teacher practice, a written statement addressing the Standards, observation reports and referee comments.

Stage 2 – direct assessment of teacher practice onsite by an external assessor which includes observation, discussion with principal/supervisor, discussion with other colleagues as required, and professional discussion with applicant.

Assessment stage 1: Submission of evidence
Evidencing the Standards
To achieve certification, evidence of performance that improves teaching and learning is required at the Highly Accomplished or Lead career stages of the Australian Professional Standards for Teachers. Evidence includes:

> direct evidence - annotated artefacts, observation reports and feedback on teacher practice
> teacher reflection on the direct evidence > referees statements.

The detail of the evidence to be provided differs between the Highly Accomplished and Lead career stages, and is outlined below.

Direct evidence
At both career stages, the following principles apply:

> evidence collectively demonstrates achievement of each of the seven Standards and takes account of each of the descriptors at the relevant career stage > a piece of evidence can address multiple descriptors, within and across the Standards and should demonstrate the holistic nature of the teacher’s practice > evidence will be drawn directly from the teacher’s work > evidence demonstrates the impact of the teacher’s work on student outcomes, that could include student learning, engagement in learning and wellbeing > evidence of the impact of the applicant’s practice on others > evidence must clearly reflect the teacher’s individual contribution and demonstrate impact over a period of time.

The evidence drawn directly from practice will include:

> annotated artefacts of the teacher’s practice > at least two reports of classroom observation8 at least one of which must be by the principal/supervisor or delegate.

8 AITSL will develop a template to record observations, or existing observation reports may be annotated to demonstrate achievement of the Standards.
Examples of this evidence may include:

- lesson plans and supporting documentation that detail the planning and delivery of a teaching sequence and its impact on student learning
- annotated samples of student work
- analysis of student performance data and outcomes, demonstrating how this has influenced teaching strategies and planning
- documentation of assessment strategies, and their links to the intended learning outcomes
- student/parent feedback drawn from regular practice
- evidence of participation in professional learning, how it has improved teaching practice and the strategies/knowledge been applied to improve student outcomes
- documentation used to support engagement with parents, the community and colleagues. Evidence of the impact of this engagement should also be included.

Collectively, each of the seven Standards must be addressed by at least two pieces of evidence, and each of the descriptors at the relevant career stage will be accounted for at least once.

It is recognised that the evidence teachers can provide will vary depending on a number of contextual issues including level of schooling, position within a school, type of school and jurisdiction and sector. Teachers are encouraged to utilise evidence that is specific to their own context.

Some teachers may not be able to provide direct evidence which accounts for every descriptor drawn from their regular work. For example, a teacher may not have had the opportunity to teach Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander students or students with a disability. However, using annotation to draw links and explain a teacher’s knowledge in this area enables evidence that is not directly related to the descriptor to be used.

Teacher reflection on the direct evidence

The applicant will submit a short written statement addressing the Standards, which includes:

- an overview of the teacher’s context and background to the evidence
- key features of the evidence
- a summary of major strengths as a teacher against each domain of the Standards – Professional Knowledge, Professional Practice and Professional Engagement.

In addition, for the Lead career stage, the applicant will submit a short description of an initiative the applicant has led within the school or across schools. This will be an initiative implemented over a period of time that was designed to build the capacity of colleagues.

The initiative must:

- be implemented over a minimum of 6 months
- be linked to school and/or system initiatives
- demonstrate the applicant’s leadership in design, implementation, evaluation and review
- demonstrate evidence of impact on colleagues’ knowledge, practice and/or engagement.

The written statement on the within or across school initiative will refer to the direct evidence.

Referees

Applicants must nominate referees who are able to provide evaluative statements regarding the applicant’s evidence and performance against the specific focus areas of the Standards of which they have direct knowledge. The current principal/supervisor or delegate must be a referee. If the applicant is in a new9 position the previous principal/supervisor’s details must also be provided. Referees may include but are not limited to classroom teachers, school leaders, education consultants, teacher educators, and/or specialist staff.

Referees will have direct knowledge of the applicant’s practice and the evidence they have provided.

Applicants will state which Standards each referee can provide evidence against. Those referees, including the principal/supervisor, who have provided observation reports, will cover the observation in their statement.

Applicants will provide three to five referees, of which at least two including the principal/supervisor will be contacted by the assessors. Referee statements will be documented. At the Lead career stage, at least one referee must have knowledge of the within or across school initiative led by the applicant. A jurisdiction may require that all nominated referees provide comment.

9 ‘New’ – less than 1 year in that position.
Assessment stage 1: Decision making and feedback

Applicants’ achievement against the Standards will be determined through an independent assessment of evidence by two assessors external to the school/setting of the applicant and nominated by the certifying authority. Assessors will be trained in the certification and assessment process, and have the expertise to assess against the Standards at the relevant career stage and in the applicant’s context.

Assessors may include teachers, school leaders, supervisors, education consultants, teacher educators, jurisdictional officers and/or specialist staff. As external assessors, they may not assess applications from their own school or applications where they have significant prior knowledge of a teacher’s practice.

Over time, as their numbers increase, it is expected that certified teachers will take a role in assessing applications. This will enhance professional ownership of the process. As this occurs, it is expected that certified Lead teachers will assess Lead applications, while Highly Accomplished applications could be assessed by certified Lead and/or Highly Accomplished teachers.

The stage 1 evidence will be assessed individually by two assessors, who will then confer, contact at least two referees and come to an assessment decision. If they cannot reach an agreement a third assessor will assist.

Assessment will be at the level of the seven Standards. Assessors will make an on-balance judgement about whether the Standard has been demonstrated, based on the evidence provided which takes account of each descriptor within that Standard. Applicants must be assessed as meeting all seven Standards to proceed to stage 2.

Feedback

Feedback will be provided to all applicants at the end of stage 1:

> for unsuccessful applicants, feedback will provide detail regarding strengths and what areas require further improvement > for successful applicants progressing to stage 2, feedback will identify the areas of focus for the onsite observations.

To ensure consistency with jurisdictional administrative and legal/appeal processes a jurisdiction may require referees to submit written statements and make these available to the applicant.

Assessment stage 2: Site visit including direct observation of practice and professional discussion

Stage 2 consists of direct observation of the applicant’s practice and discussion with the applicant and with his/her supervisor, and other colleagues as required by an assessor. Stage 2 provides additional evidence to inform a final judgement as to whether an applicant meets the Standards, and allows the applicant to reflect on and demonstrate deep understanding of the evidence presented during stage 1.

Following successful completion of stage 1, there will be contact between the applicant and one of the assessors involved in stage 1 about what areas within the Standards will be the focus of the site visit. The applicant will then take responsibility for structuring the site visit to allow observation of these agreed priority areas.

Following this discussion, the applicant will construct a program for a site visit. The visit is expected to be undertaken within one day and must include:

> pre-observation discussion led by the teacher about what is to be observed, which Standards will be demonstrated, the context and background of the observation > observation of classroom practice which involves the applicant teaching more than one lesson, for example one session/two periods (or equivalent) > discussion with the principal/supervisor to further explore the performance of the applicant against the Standards > discussion with other colleagues as nominated by the applicant to provide further evidence against the Standards > particularly at the Lead career stage, observation of other activities within the school, as required to demonstrate achievement of the Standards and as negotiated between the applicant and the assessor > professional discussion with the applicant of up to one hour in length to:

  – debrief and reflect on the observation
  – explore the evidence provided in stage 1 in further depth – respond to questions.
Following the site visit, the assessor who conducted the visit will document the evidence provided during the site visit, and submit this to a second assessor. Where practical, this will be the same assessor who was involved in stage 1. They will arrive at a decision on whether the applicant meets all seven Standards at the relevant career stage. Again, a third assessor may be involved where the first two are unable to reach a decision. A further site visit may be held at the instigation of the assessors where evidence remains inconclusive or insufficient.

Certification decision making

Assessors will make the final recommendation to the certifying authority based on the assessment of evidence against the Standards, observations of practice, referee statements and onsite discussions. Applicants will be provided with a copy of the assessment against the Standards and notification of the recommendation.

The certifying authority will endorse/decline the recommendation of the external assessors. This decision will be based on the certification assessment meeting the requirements of the certification process. On confirming a recommendation in favour of certification, the certifying authority will formally certify the teacher.

Appeals will be made available according to the legislation and processes existing in the jurisdiction where the decision is made.

Unsuccessful applications for certification as a Lead teacher are not automatically considered for Highly Accomplished status. Where an unsuccessful applicant for Lead teacher chooses to apply for certification as a Highly Accomplished teacher they may re-submit their application using substantially the same evidence, but the evidence will need to be annotated to demonstrate achievement of the Standards at the Highly Accomplished career stage, and the written statement adjusted accordingly. A new site visit may be required. This will be at the discretion of the assessors.

In order to conform with the managerial, administrative and legal processes of the jurisdiction or employing authority, and on the proviso that all elements of the common national process are adhered to, a jurisdiction may locate the final decision on certification with a specified person or persons. The decision maker will fully consider the advice of the external assessors and will undertake all the final decision making steps required by the common national process.
Renewal of certification

Certification will be granted for a fixed period of five years. The renewal process requires a re-assessment against all of the Standards through a written statement and feedback from referees who have direct knowledge of the applicant’s teaching practice.

To be eligible for renewal of certification, teachers must maintain their full registration as a teacher, including requirements for professional practice and professional learning. They must also continue to receive satisfactory annual performance assessments.

To achieve renewal applicants will submit a written statement describing how their professional practice continues to meet the Standards at the relevant career stage, and how the professional learning they have undertaken since achieving certification has improved their practice. The statement will be supported by details of up to five referees, including the current principal/supervisor or delegate, who can attest to the material referred to in the statement and make comment on the applicant’s performance against the Standards.

An external assessor appointed by the certifying authority will assess the statement and seek comment from at least two referees, including the current principal/supervisor or delegate, document the outcome of this discussion, and make a recommendation to the certifying authority on renewal.

As part of renewal of certification the certifying authority may request release of information from other certifying authorities.

Quality assurance

Quality assurance mechanisms are essential to achieve and maintain rigorous, valid and credible assessments of teachers’ practice for the purposes of certification.

Moderation mechanisms will include but are not limited to:

> use of the Australian Professional Standards for Teachers as the basis for assessment > consistent assessor training > use of experienced assessors > support of assessors by the certifying authority > a guide to certification and renewal of certification > provision of examples of teacher practice at the Highly Accomplished and Lead career stages through Illustrations of Practice and examples of evidence portfolios > materials to support implementation, focusing on key components of the certification process:
  - effective classroom observations, including templates for observation reports
  - providing instructive feedback
  - assessing teacher effectiveness.

In partnership with the certifying authority, AITSL will monitor these mechanisms and adjust them to ensure their effectiveness.

Assessment processes and recommendations will be monitored and moderated by the certifying authority. This may take the form of an audit of the evidence of a sample of teachers who have been granted certification at the Highly Accomplished and Lead career stages.

To support the certification process AITSL will coordinate and collate authoritative research on assessing teacher quality, and the reward, recognition and certification of excellence in teaching. In addition, AITSL will seek to actively participate in international benchmarking studies on recognition of quality teaching and will monitor and evaluate the operation of national processes to continuously improve the approach to certification.

Certifying authorities will collect and provide summary data on certification decisions at each stage of the assessment process. Evaluation, review and improvement of the certification process will be undertaken. AITSL will report annually to the Ministerial Council on the operation of the nationally consistent approach to certification of Highly Accomplished and Lead teachers.

Annual performance assessment

Annual performance assessments may be those conducted using the current school/system processes where these exist and are not required in a specific format. It is recognised that currently some schools may not have these processes, or the circumstances of teachers mean they have not received an assessment. In these cases, the referees will provide evidence of past performance. Following the implementation of the Australian Teacher Performance and Development Framework the specific requirements of an annual performance assessment outlined will need to be met.

Assessor

Trained assessors external to the school/setting of the applicant are nominated by the certifying authority to assess the certification application following the common national process.

Certifying authority

In each jurisdiction, there will be one or more bodies managing the certification process referred to as the certifying authority. Arrangements will be negotiated in each jurisdiction.

Full registration

In accordance with the regulatory regimes in individual jurisdictions. In New South Wales full registration is Accreditation at Professional Competence. Some teachers in NSW are not required to be accredited, and these teachers are not excluded from this certification process if they meet the other eligibility requirements.

Delegate

Nominated by the principal/supervisor. May be the Deputy/Assistant Principal or equivalent member of the senior leadership team of the school/setting who have significant knowledge of the applicant’s practice.

Portable

Certification will be portable, allowing teachers to maintain their status as a Highly Accomplished or Lead teacher if they move between jurisdictions and sectors. This does not mean that any industrial arrangements attached to certification, such as a particular rate of pay, are automatically transferable. The way in which certified teachers are recognised or rewarded is an employment matter.

Principal

The person taking responsibility for day-to-day management of the teacher and assessing their performance. Supervisor includes the equivalent position to principal in early childhood settings.

Referees

Referees may include but are not limited to classroom teachers, school leaders, education consultants, teacher educators, and/or specialist staff. Referees nominated by the applicant are required to provide verification and evaluative statements against specific focus areas of the Standards of which they have direct knowledge of the applicant’s practice.

Setting

Setting is used inclusively to refer to early childhood provision, including long day care and preschools and kindergarten, as well as other settings where teachers work.

School

School is used inclusively to refer to Australian primary and secondary schools, and other educational settings where teacher registration applies.

Summary data

Data that will be collected and available to certifying authorities, AITSL and reported to the Ministerial Council will include but is not limited to; name, gender, work location, certification decision, career stage applied/achieved and year certified. Certifying authorities may choose to collect more detailed data to allow for an in-depth analysis.

Student outcomes

Broadly defined and includes student learning, engagement in learning and wellbeing.
Highly Accomplished teachers

Highly Accomplished teachers are recognised as highly effective, skilled classroom practitioners and routinely work independently and collaboratively to improve their own practice and the practice of colleagues. They are knowledgeable and active members of the school.

Highly Accomplished teachers contribute to their colleagues’ learning. They may also take on roles that guide, advise or lead others. They regularly initiate and engage in discussions about effective teaching to improve the educational outcomes for their students.

They maximise learning opportunities for their students by understanding their backgrounds and individual characteristics and the impact of those factors on their learning. They provide colleagues, including pre-service teachers, with support and strategies to create positive and productive learning environments.

Highly Accomplished teachers have in-depth knowledge of subjects and curriculum content within their sphere of responsibility. They model sound teaching practices in their teaching areas. They work with colleagues to plan, evaluate and modify teaching programs to improve student learning. They keep abreast of the latest developments in their specialist content area or across a range of content areas for generalist teachers.

Highly Accomplished teachers are skilled in analysing student assessment data and use it to improve teaching and learning. They are active in establishing an environment which maximises professional learning and practice opportunities for colleagues. They monitor their own professional learning needs and align them to the learning needs of students.

They behave ethically at all times. Their interpersonal and presentation skills are highly developed. They communicate effectively and respectfully with students, colleagues, parents/carers and community members.

Lead teachers

Lead teachers are recognised and respected by colleagues, parents/carers and the community as exemplary teachers. They have demonstrated consistent and innovative teaching practice over time. Inside and outside the school they initiate and lead activities that focus on improving educational opportunities for all students.

They establish inclusive learning environments that meet the needs of students from different linguistic, cultural, religious and socio-economic backgrounds. They seek to improve their own practice and to share their experience with colleagues.

They are skilled in mentoring teachers and pre-service teachers, using activities that develop knowledge, practice and professional engagement in others. They promote creative, innovative thinking among colleagues.

Lead teachers apply skills and in-depth knowledge and understanding to deliver effective lessons and learning opportunities and share this information with colleagues and pre-service teachers. They describe the relationship between highly effective teaching and learning in ways that inspire colleagues to improve their own professional practice.

They lead processes to improve student performance by evaluating and revising programs, analysing student assessment data and taking account of feedback from parents/carers. This is combined with a synthesis of current research on effective teaching and learning.

Lead teachers represent the school and the teaching profession in the community. They are professional, ethical and respected individuals inside and outside the school.
