You have been employed by Volunteers Australia, which helps people to volunteer overseas. Your job is to prepare the volunteers for working in a specific country.

The next volunteer is going to a developing country in the next few weeks and needs you to provide them with all the essential information before they travel.

They will need information on the country they will be travelling to as well as information on some organisations that work in that country so they can help while they are there.

To complete this assignment you will need to:

- Select a developing country in Asia, Africa or South America.
All students must choose a different country.
- Identify 3 Not for Profit Organisations (NGO's) that work in, or provide support to your chosen country. Include a brief outline of what the focus of each organisation is. Use the outline provided.

International Development Creative Task

8. Use language features (oral and written) to communicate ideas and information clearly and/or creatively
9. Application to studies

After all of your amazing work with Volunteer Australia, one of the NGO's you work with has asked you and two friends to come and work for them.

Your job will be to educate other high-school students about what the organisation does and how they could get involved.

People are giving less to charity lately and it is going to be difficult to help them understand the serious issues that are involved in some developing nations. You will need to really research your organisation and use all your creativity to get your message across.

This assignment will include 3 parts:

1. A written report on you organisation.
2. A detailed outline of your campaign.
3. Presentation (4-5 mins) to the class.
