

1/12/19

The council planners observed from their compound the mountains on the boundary of their town. They were astounded to see a large sow prowling through the dirt on the ground.

